CAMPAIGN TO START

O. B. Martin of College Station In Further Statement

An extra 30 cents per bushel is in store this fall for Texas wheat growers for that part of their crop that goes into domestic human consumption in the United States if the domestic allotment plan of the Agricultural Adjustment Act works out satisfactorily, says O. B. Martin, director A. & M. College Extension Service. Returning from a regional wheat conference for representatives of nine Southwestern states last week he pointed out that it is the firm intention of the Administration to force wheat prices up to a parity with the general price level through distribution of a 30-cent-per-bushel processing tax proclaimed effective July 8th by the Secretary of Agriculture.

"On the other hand," said Mr. Martin, "by the plans tentatively announced Texas growers would have to reduce their acreages an average of 25% in order to participate in the benefit of a 20% reduction is ordered. In some counties growers might have to reduce acreage by as much as 50% to receive benefits. This is due to the fact that the five year acreage averages on which state and county allotments are based is not as high in Texas as the three-year acreage average on which the individual farm allotment is based. This in turn is due to the newly settled wheat lands of the Panhandle. The same problem exists in Oklahoma, Kansas and Colorado. We are presenting a brief for Texas to the Agricultural Adjustment Act officials pointing out the injustice and suggesting changes.'

National campaign plans call for preliminary conferences as early as July 15th and an active contract signing campaign beginning early in August, Mr. Martin reports. Plans for the Texas campaign are being held up pending a satisfactory adjustment of the basis for computing the individual farm acreage. The Extenson Service has been drafted to conduct the work of informing growers of the details of the plan.

As planned by the Administration, signers of contracts would organize local county wheat pro-

Recommendations Made by Citizens in Seeking RFC Funds

The News last week called upon citizens of Canyon to make further recommendations for improvements which might be made with federal money which is available as loans to communities. Of the amount loaned, 30% is proposed as a gift on self-liquidating projects.

Three suggestions have been received this week:

A home for feeble minded children.

Improvement in the cemetery.

New sewage disposal plant.

Suggestions which had been previously made as worthy projects are:

City or county hospital.

Creamery or cheese factory.

Gravel road to southwest part of county.

County library.

County jail.

City parks.

No organization has been formed to seek funds for any of these projects. Business men who are interested in improving the city and county have had under consideration some of the projects with a view of seeking federal aid, if there was sufficient interest among the citizens in any of the projects.

The News asks the citizens to express their opinion as to any of these projects.

New officers of the Canyon Rotary club assumed office the first of July with the beginning of the new Rotary year. The gavel was turned over last Tuesday by retiring president, Oscar Gano, to Dr. Sylvester Ingham, president for the coming year. Oscar will make a report on the past year's work at the meeting next Tuesday. Committees for the coming year will be announced by Dr. Ingham at the next meeting.

Rain Monday of .90 Inch Cools Plains Section

Canyon received a rain Monday night amounting to .90 of an inch. The rainfall extended over about half of Randall county.

The southern section of the county received from one to two inches, but little fell in the vicinity of Happy. The Ralph territory seems to have received more rain than any other section.

Following the hottest period of the summer during the last week, the temperature was cooled by the rain Monday, and local showers in various sections of the Panhandle on Tuesday and yesterday.

J. T. Coffee is confined to his bed with an injured leg sustained when a scaffolding fell with him last week.

FARMERS MAY BORROW FUNDS TO FEED STOCK

Application Blanks Must Be Filled Out by July 15

CHARGE LOCAL MEN

Drouth Rates Given Feed Being Shipped to Randall

Randall county farmers may borrow money from the Agricultural Department for the purpose of buying feed for their stock. Application blanks are now available from W. C. Black, T. C. Thompson, R. O. Allison and W. H. Upchurch, members of the local committee in charge of the loans.

All applications must be made by July 15th.

On account of the continued drouth the local committee made application for these loans as farmers will have to have assistance in carrying their stock through the summer.

The government is allowing feed loans on the following basis:

$3.50 per month for work stock.

$2.50 per month for cattle.

$1.00 per month for brood sows.

50 cents per month for young stock.

The local committee has also secured drouth district freight rates for Randall county feed which is being shipped in by rail. This rate will mean the saving of about one-half of the regular freight rates on all kinds of feed which will be necessary to carry the stock through the drouth.

DEFINITE DECISION ON TEXAS UTILITIES STOCK

A meeting is being held in New York today and tomorrow as to the disposition that will be made of the consumer-owner stock of the Texas Utilities Company, according to information received by Clyde W. Warwick of the local committee.

The company has been operating in the hands of a receiver. Judge I. R. Kelso and others have been trying to convince the new stockholders that the consumer-owner stockholders should be protected in the reorganization. Just what steps will be taken has not been divulged.

Cotton Farmers Attached to Swisher for Crop Bonus

Randall county cotton farmers have been attached to Swisher county for the purpose of making contracts on crop production and crop bonus, stated County Agent W. H. Upchurch yesterday. There are only about 30 farmers in Randal county with cotton crops this year. It would not be feasible to set up a county organization to handle so few contracts when the same could be handled through Swisher county.

Mr. Upchurch has the necessary blanks at his office, or farmers may see Lee Sims at Happy, chairman of the Swisher county committee. About 20 Randall county cotton farmers have signed up on the cotton acreage reduction. All must be signed up by Saturday, July 8th.

Trucks and Cars Needed To Transport The Work Army

The Palo Duro canyon has finally been designated and approved as a State Park. There is no question now regarding the development that will be made in the Palo Duro, with the coming of the work army next week.

The citizens of Canyon and Randall county have a great responsibility confronting them in this undertaking. The county must move the men from the train to the camp site. This will call for hundreds of trucks and cars to haul the six hundred men, together with their equipment.

The first impression will count for much as to the pleasant relationship which will exist between the army officers and the citizens. The army officers have praised very highly the spirit of co-operation which has been shown up to this time. The big job is ahead of us. To continue the pleasant relationship, the men must be moved out next week rapidly and comfortably.

We call upon each and every citizen of Canyon and Randall county to hold themselves in readiness next Thursday or Friday, when the troops arrive, and assist with trucks and cars in transporting the men to the camp site east of this city.

Wheat Harvest To End During Week

Wheat was bringing 87 cents in Canyon yesterday, and the grain was continuing to come in satisfactorily. Buyers state that all of the grain is No. 1 since the rain has not covered much of the county from which they are getting the wheat.

It is estimated that fully 60 percent of the wheat in this section has been harvested, and that the balance will be cut by the end of this week if no more rain falls.

Many of the farmers are storing their wheat, hoping that the price will be even higher, but a majority are bringing the grain direct to the elevators.

CASES SET FOR JUSTICE COURT ON JULY 19TH

Hillery Hutchinson was arrested Friday charged with theft of wheat from Glen Costley. The case was set for July 19th to be tried in the court of Justice of the Peace J. L. Prichard.

M. J. Wesley was arrested the same day charged with theft of a truck casing from H. H. Sutton. The case was set for the 19th.

R. R. Brooks was tried Friday and released by Judge Prichard. He was charged by John Decker with theft of cattle and returned by Sheriff Bob Barnett from Sherwood.

A FELLOW HAS TO BE A "STRONG MAN" THESE DAYS

600 MEN ARE ASSIGNED TO THREE CAMPS

Final Approval was Given Tuesday After Series of Delays

MEN COME JULY 13TH

Work May Continue During the Coming Two Years

The Palo Duro State Park was finally accepted Tuesday morning by the United States army as a worthy project for the reforestation work, after having been approved Friday by the state officials at Austin.

Three camps with 600 men will be established at the park 15 miles east of Canyon, where the state has acquired title to the Byars Bros. ranch of 14,566 acres. The men will be shipped from Fort Sill next Thursday, and will be transported to the camp site either Thursday night or Friday morning.

Developments of the last week started Thursday afternoon with an urgent conference in Amarillo. State officials demanded from Panhandle citizens a telegram and letter of approval of the whole project, stating that the citizens giving their approval had studied the set-up and believed that it was thoroughly self-liquidating.

Those signing the petition were: Senator Clint C. Small, S. P. Matthews, county judge of Armstrong County; L. M. Fisher, Amarillo; C. R. Burrow, mayor of Canyon; L. P. White of Claude, member of the Palo Duro park association; Maj. E. A. Simpson, Amarillo; T. E. Johnson, Amarillo, chairman of the Palo Duro Park Committee; Clyde W. Warwick, Canyon, secretary of Palo Duro Park Committee; S. B. Orton, county judge of Randall County; Ross D. Rogers, mayor of Amarillo; Gene Howe, editor, The Globe News; J. O. Guleke, Amarillo; Julius Dorenfield, Amarillo; Rep. H. K. Stanfield; Chas. T. Ware, Amarillo National Bank; W. H. Fuqua, First National Bank; Howard Paul, American State Bank.

Dr. J. A. Hill on Friday morning added his approval in a separate letter and telegram.

It was believed at the time that the Palo Duro Park was saved by this action on the part of the citizens, as approval was given the project Friday morning in Austin by Lawrence Westbrook, who is in charge of federal funds in Texas.

Col. Edgar King of Fort Bliss arrived Saturday night for a final inspection on the part of the army. He is a medical officer in charge of 42 camps in New Mexico, Arizona and Colorado. After inspecting the water supply on the east side, this site was rejected as a

Dairymen Receive Increased Price for Whole Milk

Following petitions from the Randall County Dairymen's Association, and a number of conferences between the farmers and distributors, an increase has been granted on whole milk, which is being bought from the dairy farmers of this county.

Officers of the association have directed a letter to the distributors thanking them for the present increase, and calling attention to the rapidly increasing price of feed.

Randall county is furnishing a large part of the milk supply of Amarillo which is gathered by truck lines.

PALO DURO STATE PARK TO BE MADE A REALITY

Dallas Journal: All Texas should rejoice at the good news that a Federal Loan to the State Parks Board will make a reality of the long desired Palo Duro State Park. One of the last acts of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation before it surrendered certain of its functions to the Bureau of Public Works was to approve application for a loan which will total $174,000, and which will be applied to acquirement of more than 14,000 acres inclusive of Palo Duro Canyon, and to the building of cottages, campsites, water supply systems, swimming pools and other recreational facilities within the park.

The news is made even better in that the work of improvement will give employment to 100 men on the State Park proper, and to several hundreds on highways leading to it and trails leading through it.

The park development is to be made a revenue-yielding project, through fees for entrance and other charges. That will mean a contribution to maintenance and perhaps to a steady retirement of the loan obligation.

Palo Duro Park will prove an asset not only to the Panhandle and Plains region, but to all of Texas, the great Southwest and the motoring world at large. The region is rich in rugged natural beauty and its preservation for the delight of millions throughout the years is a wise provision.

So Otto M. Kahn did not pay an income tax. The tax was easily evaded by selling stocks at a loss to members of his family, and then buying them back. The News has long been opposed to the method of handling the income tax, believing that it was too easily evaded. Our position has been completely justified in the recent exposures. Those who have been paying an income tax will now feel like kicking themselves for not having done what the big fellows of the country are doing. The pet argument made for the income tax has been that the people pay who are able to pay; but as it turns out for a matter of fact, only those are paying who do not wish to evade the tax. The exposures recently made will most certainly make it harder for the government to collect the income tax in the future unless the laws are radically changed. It is certainly a blessing for Texas that the Senate killed the income tax bill in the last session of the legislature, or the state relying upon such a tax would have been worse off than it is now.

There has been a great cry in recent years against the government engaging in business. But since the 4th of March, the government has started wholesale into business of every kind and description. The funny thing is that those who so loudly opposed governmental interference in the past are now demanding it. It seems that all of us would like to have the government step in and take charge of our business until this depression gets over and business becomes profitable. The question naturally arises, where is Uncle Sam going to secure all of the money necessary to run the farms, banks, railroads, home loans, etc., etc., which he has taken over. Also, what will he do to cover all of the losses sustained in this operation. Since Uncle Same gave billions to Europe, which will never come back, the average citizen is not inclined to worry where the government is going to get the money for home relief, or what will be the result. Necessity causes most of us to wish to sit in at the pie counter while our generous government is dishing out the aid.

Great is the Panhandle of Texas. Wheat is being harvested in Randall county making 8 to 15 bushels to the acre which received only 4.04 inches of rain since the first of January. It was the exceedingly high and constant winds of the first four months which played havoc with the wheat. Had it not been for those high winds, there would have been a normal wheat production in spite of the small amount of moisture. No section of the country could possibly have raised so much wheat under adverse conditions as the Panhandle is doing this year. A month ago it was estimated that the wheat yield would be practically nothing, but it turns out that at least a 20% normal wheat crop is being produced. R. E. Baird, the man who has lived here since March 1883, a longer period than any other citizen of Randall county, stated yesterday that this year was the most abnormal of any in his experience. The Panhandle will produce more under the most unfavorable conditions than any other section of the United States.

Every killer is now equipped with a machine gun, which may be bought for $125. It is no wonder that the police cannot cope with gangs who are so fully equipped. The United States continues to have more murders than any nation on the face of the globe, and we continue to let go free a very large percent of the murderers. Crime would become very unprofitable if the American people should decide they had enough of crime, and that criminals must be punished.

All lines of business are now adopting codes of ethics under the terms of the National Industry Recovery Act. The government is going to demand that cut throat competition stop; that manufacturers cease selling their products below cost and that merchants make a profit on their goods. Since the depression started there has been a mad scramble for business through the medium of price cutting. This has resulted in thousands of bankruptcies which might have been avoided if only a fair profit had been made on articles sold. It will be a blessing to the entire country to have fair prices restored, and all of the people making a fair profit again. Nothing will do so much toward restoring prosperity as this program, which is fostered by President Roosevelt.

It has been revealed that in setting a value on crops over the country, too many farmers have attempted to include the price of the land. In other words, while it looks easy to get money from the government, why not get all you can? Oh, well, others are doing it, so why not the farmer? However, in this instance, the government is checking the crop production over a 5-year period, and is scaling the crop allowance.

Now wasn't that something to see Jim Ferguson and Frank Norris debating the prohibition question, and actually casting bouquets at each other. To say the least, neither of them did much good for the cause which they were espousing. Most of the people have made up their minds as to this question. Neither Ferguson nor Norris will change many votes.

Both of the United States Senators from Texas are scheduled for strong opposition when they come up again for re-election. Either Jim Ferguson or Joe Bailey, Jr., is scheduled to oppose Tom Connally next year; and Jimmie Allred is slated to oppose Morris Sheppard in 1936. The life of a politician is a most strenuous one.

Millions of dollars were made and lost on wheat last week—but not by the wheat farmers. The money was made by gamblers on the stock market who never owned a bushel of wheat or would not know a wheat field if they saw it.

IN THE WORLD OF SPORTS

A New Sports Wrinkle — Motorboat Racing in a "Stadium" — Bids Fair to Become Popular Everywhere

BY PHILIP MARTIN

THE sports world has discovered a new kind of thrill for cash customers. It's motorboat racing right in your lap—almost. The idea originated in Los Angeles and met with such instant success that sports promoters in numerous other cities are said to be planning similar ventures.

Here's the lowdown on the new sport, which has all the thrills of automobile racing. Heretofore, most motorboat courses were natural affairs where the pilots raced a mile one way, turned around an almost invisible buoy and came back again. Now, pilots do their racing on an oval speedway confined to 20 acres of water.

Previously, all the spills and thrills were missed by the majority of the spectators, most of whom huddled around the finish line. It is different at Lake Los Angeles, situated in Venice, a half-mile from the Pacific ocean. The pilots guide their fast craft around the tricky oval, and at no time are they more than half a block away from the spectators.

Naturally, race-minded fans like the idea and are willing to lay cash on the line for the privilege of getting spray in their hair and getting a close-up view of all the excitement. Moreover, the enclosed oval idea puts a lot more pep and thrills into the sport which were lacking when races were staged over straightaway courses.

It's unusual when a race doesn't offer a spill or two. Then the fans get a laugh as the unlucky pilot is fished out of the water. If it's a cold day and the water is colder, the fans seem to like it even better. The greatest thrill, perhaps, is when two or three boats meet at a buoy at the same time, each pilot trying for the pole. And then, oh, buoy!

THE races here are confined to three classes—the Class A hydroplanes; Class C racing runabouts and the Class F racing runabouts. All of the boats are equipped with outboard motors, some of which have four cylinders. The A's are bug-like contraptions not more than six feet long. They look like cardboard boxes as they buzz around at 40 miles an hour.

Mechanics ride with drivers in the F class to hold down the boat so that the fin—the blade at the bottom of the boat—will remain in the water. Sometimes the mechanic shifts his weight at the wrong time. Here's what happens then. The boat seems to jump out of the water. The mechanic usually gets a wetting. If the pilot is lucky the craft planks down on the water again and speeds on. But often the boat twists around, dumps the pilot out and, pilotless, rushes around until it hits the lake's retaining walls.

Numerous well-known motorboat pilots race at Lake Los Angeles. Ruth Elder, transatlantic flyer, has taken up the sport, as well as numerous other women with a flair for speed.

RETURN TO THE LAND

The return to the land movement, given impetus by the depression, is not confined to the inhabitants. Investment money promises to follow the same path.

The 1929 crash in industrial securities has gone a long way in emphasizing the truth of the old axiom that property is the real basis of wealth. Land and commodities, physical manifestations of wealth, are the root of trade. Money is not wealth, but the measuring stick of wealth.

Some respectable economists believe that a great deal of investment capital withdrawn from the real estate field during the fat years of stock gambling will again return to that field. The inflationary movement on which the country is launched will tend inevitably toward the increase of commodity prices and as inevitably react on land values. Land will take its ancient place as the foundation stone of the economic structure.

As currency expansion shrinks the idle dollar, so the urge to invest increases with the promise of rising commodity prices. Real estate should feel some of the first effects of the return of investment money to the firing line. Currency expansion, an invisible tax on money, in that it reduces public and private debt, with a compensating relief of taxation on land and commodities, must direct the attention of the investor to property investments.—Daily News, Orange, California.

Raft Survivor Recovering

Mrs. Charles Rennie, Jr., above, who drifted for 34 hours on a makeshift raft in Lake Michigan and watched her husband and two other men drown following a seaplane crash in a fog, is recovering from the shock and exposure of her experience. She is shown with her fatherless children, left to right, Halcyon, John and Martha Jean. Mr. Rennie is shown in inset.

A LITTLE STREET WHERE OLD FRIENDS MEET

That little street is right in your own home town. If you make it a friendly street outsiders will want to come and share it with you. They will sense the glow of friendly contact and wish to linger long within its warmth. And a friendly street is so easy to obtain. Just a kindly attitude towards your neighbor and others with whom you divide the care of the day. Just a little human understanding of what constitutes gentleness and courtesy. That's all you need to make a street where old friends want to meet.

The community that prospers is always a friendly community. Today the world is seeking out such places. There is so much of travail and harshness in the everyday affairs of life that friendly havens beckon from afar. If you want your home town to be prosperous, to be known as a friendly spot, then you be friendly, too. It is a good message to carry with you during the year—and it pays big dividends in happiness and prosperity.—South Kent County News, Grand Rapids, Michigan.

New Weather Forecasting System Is Said to Be 96 Pct. Accurate

NO longer will the weatherman continue a prophet without honor in his home town, a butt of jokes and the bane of picnickers, if the claim of a group of western scientists proves well founded. A new weather forecasting system has been devised, these men of science maintain, which is 96.1 per cent accurate. Heretofore, weather reports have proved correct only 65 per cent of the time.

It will be possible to tell what conditions will be in every section of the country from 24 to 48 hours before the weather arrives, according to the meteorologists fostering the new method.

"The Norwegian system of air mass analysis," as the plan is called, involves the study of "cold" and "warm" air masses. Great bodies of cold air, originating in the northern polar regions, rush southward over the United States. Similarly, masses of warm air come pouring across the country from the trade wind belt in the tropics.

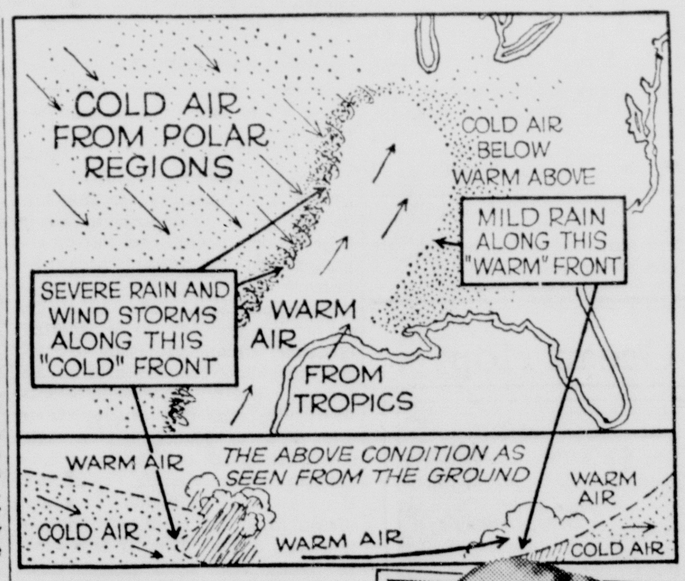
AS the body of cold air travels along, the upper part forges ahead of the lower, due to the greater friction near the ground. When the on-rushing warm air strikes this overhanging "cliff" of cold air, a tremendous atmospheric commotion ensues from the struggle of the lighter warm air to rise above the cold. This is called a "cold front," which produces tornadoes and other violent air disturbances. It was one of these "cold fronts" which plunged the U. S. Navy dirigible, Akron, into the sea recently.

When oil is poured on water, the dividing line remains level. But the dividing line between air masses of different temperatures always slope. The earth's rotation brings this about. When a warm air current flowing northward, to the east of a cold current, slides easily over the slope of a retreating wedge of the cold air, a "warm front" results.

There is very little disturbance when this takes place, since at no time is warm air underneath the cold, and there is no consequent upward rush of the warmer air. If the upper air is sufficiently moist, though, contact with the cold air may create a large rain area.

Eventually, the underlying cold air masses of a "cold" and "warm" front merge. From then on the activity and disturbance diminish.



COLD AIR FROM POLAR REGIONS
MILD RAIN ALONG THIS "WARM" FRONT
SEVERE RAIN AND WIND STORMS ALONG THIS "COLD" FRONT
WARM AIR FROM TROPICS

The map above explains the theory behind the new weather forecasting system sponsored by Dr. Robert A. Millikan, California scientist shown at right. When masses of warm air from the trade wind belt in the tropics, rushing north, encounter great bodies of cold air from the northern polar regions, a "cold front" develops where the lighter warm air meets a "cliff" of cold air and struggles to rise above it. A "warm front," though, results when the warm air slides easily over a retreating wedge of cold air.

WEATHERMEN at present forecast by means of experience, statistics and the distribution of atmospheric pressure. The new method, first applied in America by Meteorologist Irving Krick under the sponsorship of Dr. R. A. Millikan, eminent scientist of the California Institute of Technology, adds to the present system the theory of air mass analysis.

Equipped with a thorough knowledge of the speeds and properties of air masses, and constantly supplied with data from weather bureau stations in all parts of the country, the scientists are enabled to promise great accuracy in weather predictions.

Besides minimizing for farmers the odds in their gamble against the weather, the new system of weather prediction is a boon for aviation. Besides foretelling weather accurately, this new departure in weather forecasting will reveal the height of clouds, the level at which smooth air exists, just where icing conditions prevail, the effect of mountains, valleys, etc., on air masses and other information invaluable to airmen.

Writers' Forum Meets Thursdays For Criticisms

One of the most interesting organizations of the College campus this summer is the Writers' Forum which meets each Thursday evening for reading and criticism of original literary works produced by ye eds and co-eds of W. T. Each meeting is devoted to a special division in the literary field and is supervised by a member of the English department.

The club was fortunate in having two members of the Panhandle Penwomen, Miss Laura V. Hamner and Mrs. Chandler, of Amarillo, as guests. Both are Panhandle authors of distinction and offered constructive criticisms during the hour when original verse was read. Contributions were made by Peggy Caldwell, Emil Brewer, Bernice Bessire and Vincent Lockhart.

During the business session Miss Caldwell was elected chairman of the organization. Refreshments were served by the host.

The Forum will meet tonight (Thursday) promptly at 7:30 with Miss Caldwell and Miss Brewer at 1803 Fourth Avenue. Dr. Fronabarger will lead the discussion on the Short Story. Several members of the Penwomen's club plan to attend this meeting also. All students interested in creative writing are cordially invited to attend and to read copies of their original compositions if they desire.

Y.W.C.A. Programs Cover Many Subjects of Great Interest

The programs of the Y. W. C. A. have been of outstanding interest during the past two weeks. Last night Dorothy McKenzie and Dorothy Cash arranged the program to give the other members as much of an idea of their trip to the Texas, Louisiana, Arkansas, and Oklahoma conference at Hollister as possible in the hour set aside for the meeting. The religious, social and recreational phases of the meeting were given in a very attractive way.

Last week Dr. Angie Debo of the history department related some of her experiences with Indians she had known in Oklahoma. She supplemented the incidents within her own experience with others from the lives of famous Indians, and added some intimate details concerning present day life of Indians. A picture of Indian life and lore quite different from that secured through a casual reading of history was painted by Miss Debo.

The Y. W. C. A. meetings are held on the lawn south of the Administration building, at 7:15, the meeting hour, this spot is attractively cool.

WHISPERS

In New York State for some years it has been a crime to knowingly circulate a false report about the financial stability of a bank. Recently, Governor Lehman approved an amendment to this law extending its provisions to cover false reports about insurance companies and commercial organizations.

This has been done to check, so far as possible, the whispering epidemic which has been one of the most dangerous features of the present world depression. The whisper spreads more rapidly than any fever or scourge. Men who gather statistics say that one maliciously uttered remark can spread from a single individual to every person in a city of 100,000 in less than two hours. That is how runs on banks have been precipitated. The whisper plays no favorites.

Often a whisper has nothing more malicious back of it than the habit of individuals to pass along hints or rumors that have been imparted to them. However, this innocence of motive does not mitigate the effects of the action. It must be stopped. James A. Beha, General Manager and Counsel of the National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters, recently characterized the whisper propery when he said:

"A whisper is like a snake and should be treated as such. We crush the head of a serpent, trample it under our heel. We should do the same thing to a whisper."

The modern freshness of youth is desirable, except that most of it is too fresh.

Don't tell your troubles to others. They may inflict you with a greater bunch of their own.

Another good thing to remember is that no man ever gets too big to fit into a small job.

A spinster is an old maid who has to postpone her wedding until she can find a groom.

64 Students and W. T. Faculty Visit Carlsbad Cavern

Sixty-four college students and faculty members observed the Fourth of July by taking a trip through Carlsbad Cavern. Most of the trippers left Canyon early Monday morning and returned late Tuesday night.

Through the courtesy of Colonel Thos. Boles, the superintendent of the Carlsbad National Park, the college visitors were allowed to enter the Caverns free of charge, and were given a special price on the luncheon served in the Cavern dining room.

Local arrangements for the trip were made by Business Manager Travis Shaw and Dean of Men, Harris M. Cook.

A great number of those who went had seen the cavern before, but were glad to have a chance to view its marvelous beauties again. All were loud in their praise of Carlsbad and the park management and in their appreciation of the courtesies extended. About 800 went through the caverns on the Fourth, but there was no sense of hurry and the uniform temperature of fifty-six degrees was a welcome change from the intense heat on the surface.

Those who made the trip were: Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Hill, Marion and Joe Hill, Martha Nell Lang, Frank Monroe, Dan Aynesworth, Wilma Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Rex Reeves, Faye Pool, Billye Pool, Cathryn Peterson, Mr. and Mrs. McHenry Lane, Doyle Glover, Mr. and Mrs. Wayland Weatherred, Mr. and Mrs. D. Jimmie Gamewell lead the field Monday in the Indian Hills Open Golf tournament, but was behind yesterday when rain stopped the play. The finals will be completed next Sunday. Gamewell was 4 under Paul Gore, Amarillo Country Club champion, when a heavy shower came up, stopping the tournament.

W. E. Lockhart and J. L. Duflot also participated in the tournament.

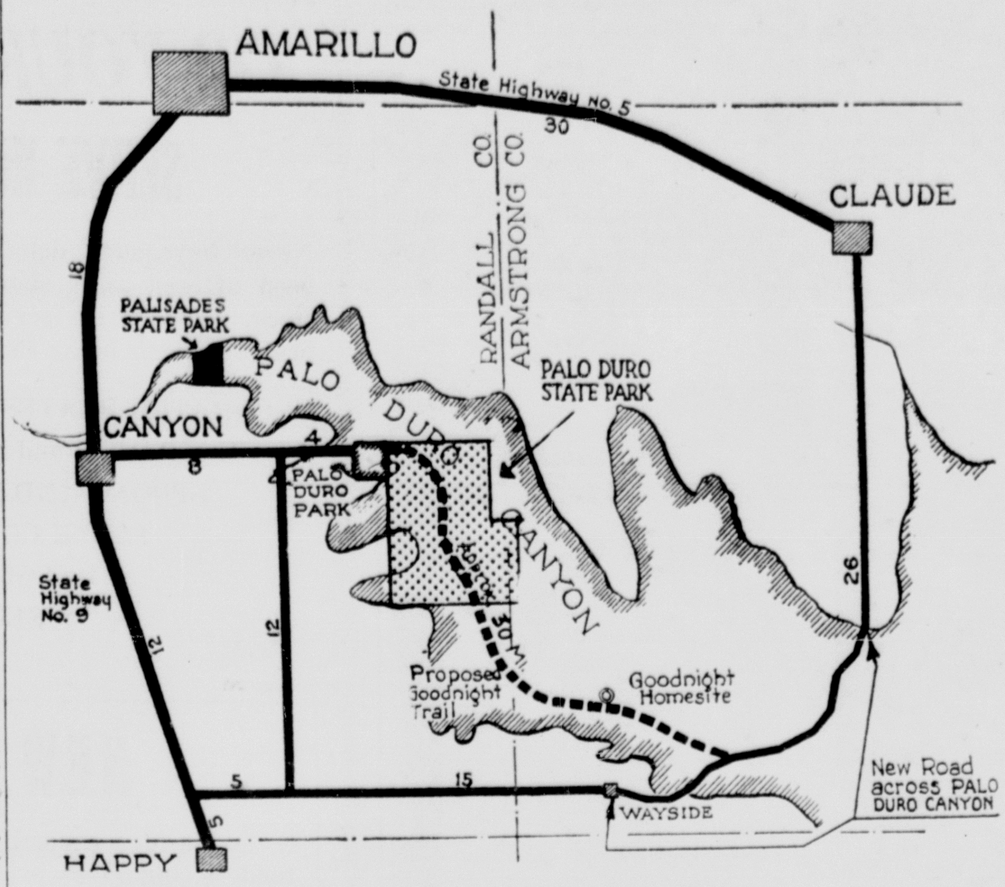
State Park Sites in the Palo Duro



The above map is a revised map of the park system of Randall county since President Roosevelt authorized the establishment of the Palo Duro State Park as well as the Palisades State Park. Both of these parks will be only a few minutes' drive from Canyon. While the Palisades State Park comprises only a half section, a reforestation government camp located there will soon beautify this park. The Palo Duro State Park now comprises more than fourteen thousand acres in the heart of the beautiful Palo Duro canyon. Three government camps have been authorized for this site, each with authority to spend eighteen thousand dollars to beautify the park. The map also shows the proposed Goodnight Trail plans for which are not likely to mature in the immediate future. The Hamblen Drive at Wayside is the only scenic drive now crossing the Palo Duro, and is drawing hundreds of sight-seers every week.

Campus Notes

Friends of Miss Ozella Gilbert of Plainview have received announcement of her recent marriage to Mr. Rex Wishard of the same city. They were married June 28 in Clovis, N. M., with Rev. N. F. Nix officiating. They will live at 807 Wilwaukee St., Plainview. Miss Gilbert was last enrolled at W. T. in the summer of 1932; for the past two years she has been teaching at Cone.

Mary McCamey, last in W. T. in 1932 is a member of a new club at her home town, Pampa; the club, with members of the younger set is called the A. B. C.

Loraine Bruce, '26, who has been teaching at Hearne, Texas, for the last five years is spending the summer at her home, 1309 Jefferson St., Amarillo; she will visit in New Mexico and attend the Century of Progress Exposition before returning to her work.

The mediaeval atmosphere of Taos, the museums, art galleries and curio shops of Santa Fe were the destinations of many during the Fourth of July holiday. Mrs. Geraldine Green, Miss Hellen Hickman, Miss Edna Graham, Miss Myrtle Dial of Sherman, Miss Jeannette Wade and Nell Green made up one party. Professor L. S. Baker and family and Mrs. Kirby and daughter, Hazel, Alice Cooper, Annis Smith and Alpha Headlee also went to Taos.

R. R. Jemison was a business caller at Hartley Saturday.

C. W. Batchelder, John Gillis, Carl York and C. A. Murray spent the Fourth at Stonewall, Colorado, fishing.

Professor S. H. Condron, Dr. Albert Barnett, Lee Johnson and Registrar D. A. Shirley enjoyed a fishing trip in New Mexico the Fourth.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Foster, Miss Ruby Kendrick Cherry and Robert Hunt spent the holiday at Cloudcroft and El Paso, returning Tuesday night.

Knox Kinard spent the week-end at Oklaunion where he is superintendent of schools.

Hadley Reeve, '33, has been elected to a position on the Kress high school faculty.

Miss Jennie C. Ritchie, Miss Mary Morgan Brown, and Miss Helen White Moore spent Monday in Amarillo.

Miss Ethel Morgan of Wichita Falls has stayed at Randall Hall for several summers. She spent the Fourth of July holiday visiting her brother in Amarillo.

A card from Miss Thelma Brummett tells that she is to begin her summer's work on July 7. She and Miss Margaret Stein and Miss Lois Goodrich had a delightful motor trip to New York, covering a distance of 2700 miles and seeing many places of interest enroute.

President and Mrs. J. A. Hill and Miss Florence McMurtry chaperoned a group of young people to Ruidoso where a house-party was enjoyed over the week-end, after which the Carlsbad Cavern National Park was visited on the Fourth. Those in the party were Joe Hill, Jr., Marion Hill, Martha Nell Lang, Dan Aynesworth, Wilma Jones, and Frank Monroe.

Sixty-two children, seven fathers and ten mothers enjoyed the hospitality of the lawn of the President's Home last Thursday evening when Dr. and Mrs. Hill entertained all the children of students who are enrolled in the summer school. Stories and games told and directed by Miss Richardson and Mrs. Hill entertained the children until the end of the play hour when custard cups made it a "perfect party" for all of them. Busy parents who are spending much of their time in study appreciated the occasion planned for their children as much as the youngsters themselves. President and Mrs. Hill expect to have the children as their guests twice more during the summer, one party to be in July and the final one in August.

Robert and Virginia Jarrett are spending this week end in Granbury, Texas where they are visiting relatives; they took Dr. and Mrs. A. R. Jarrett who have been visiting in Canyon back to their home.

Prof. T. M. Moore and family made a brief trip to Colorado over the week end.

Smile of Victory

It's hard to understand why this English bull, "The Crovanspring," looks like that, especially since he'd just added a 20th victory to his record of being the best English bull in America. It might be the colic that pains him; perhaps he can't stand all this ribbon business; or maybe he doesn't like the attitude of the bloomin' Yanks on this war debt thing.

IN THE WORLD OF SPORTS

Even Though Congress Has Adjourned, Joe Cronin and His Crashing Crew Are Keeping the Capital in the News

BY PHILIP MARTIN

SHUNTING politics, debt payments and other international affairs into the background at the nation's capital is the Crew of Cronin, the baseball team that has made the race in the American League something other than the usual two-sided affair between the Yanks and the Athletics.

Starting out the season, the Yanks were odds-on choices to cop the bunting again in their own circuit, and they were wagering next year's corn crop that Joe McCarthy would bring his bunch home in front of the pack.

But they reckoned without the boy wonder—Joe Cronin. Joe, whose pugnacious Irish mug fronts a lot of gray matter when it comes to baseball thinking, has hopped up his crew to a point where it is playing the best ball in the league and has ousted the Yanks as favorites.

The team as a whole ranks in first place in hitting, and runs third in fielding. Heading the Senators' hitting staff are Fred Schulte, the guy Joe got from the Browns, old Heinie Manush, and Joe himself, who are all hitting around .350.

A LOT of the credit for the success of the team goes to the pitching staff, of course. Crowder leads the pack, with Whitehill, McAfee, Russell, Stewart and Weaver turning in some good wins.

The team is showing plenty of the old fight, with Buddy Myer, the spark-plug second baseman, leading the battling. Buddy has scrapped with just about everyone in the American League this year, and his dukes are always ready for a tangle. His cockiness, together with Cronin's courage, are furnishing the spirit to move things along.

OF course, the season is not yet half over, and the Yanks are apt to recover from their attack of the palsy and get out of their slump.

But—it's more than likely they won't. The reason is that Babe Ruth, the old man of the game, has just about finished his great career.

The other day in Detroit he was benched for the first time in his 14 years with the Yanks. They say he complained of the heat, but the fact was that he had collected only two base blows in 17 times at bat, and Joe McCarthy thought that wasn't quite enough.

The saying for a long time has been—"As Ruth goes, so go the Yanks." And if that's true, the Yanks are due to slip with the Bambino.

If they do, the Senators will be almost a sure bet for the 1933 world series.

F.D.R. Popular Art Subject

President Roosevelt seems to have captured the imagination of artists everywhere as a subject for their work. The embroidered portrait shown above, on exhibition at Chicago's Century of Progress Exposition, was made of pure silk in China at a cost of $1000. The president's initials and a few splashes of ink comprise the caricature drawn by Eddie Vitch, young Hollywood artist, shown displaying it below.

LET'S USE SENSIBLE ECONOMY

"True economy is not the saving of money, but the saving of men." So says Roger Babson who says that the American people have gone from the extreme of speculating to the extreme of false economy.

Mr. Babson's statement smacks with truth. Extravagance and unjustified expense must be curtailed, taxes must be reduced, overheads must be cut, but we must not go so far that we will endanger our social set up. The reduction program in legislatures must be dealt with sanely and not adopted without due deliberation.

Only a few years ago we were borrowing money, buying on installment, pushing for increased government appropriations. Today we have leaped to the other extreme. We fire labor, curtail expenditures to the bone and the result is an economy panic.

There is a middle course. We cannot solve the depression by throwing more people out of work and reducing incomes to mere living costs. So far we have deflated wages, securities, commodities and we are in the process of deflating taxes, debts and rents. We needed to do some of these things and we have succeeded. The deflated process has reached the limit, Mr. Babson says.

The need of the hour now is confidence which will restore purchasing power. More deflation will be just as disastrous as speculation was in the extreme boom days. We must protect incomes and keep labor employed to buy the products we raise and manufacture. Sensible economy is justified; ruthless economy will defeat our purpose.—Express, Red Oak, Iowa.

"I have more respect for this job than any one I ever tackled before."—Secretary of the Treasury Woodin.

STARTING OVER AGAIN

The little world in which most of us have been living has sort of toppled about us like a frail house in a hurricane along a sea-coast. Many of the institutions that seemed impregnable to us have, under the stress of world re-adjustment, melted down like ice on a hot summer's day. Many of today's adults, who yesterday were feeling secure and safe upon life's highway, have been confronted with the necessity of starting all over again. Well, if a new start is necessary, then to be a good racer it's: "Ready! Get set! Go!" (And don't forget that the Lord loveth a cheerful loser.)—Eccentric, Birmingham, Mich.

Haley Collects Great Plains Manuscript for University of Texas

AUSTIN, July 1.—Various recently acquired manuscripts constitute the nucleus for the proposed "Great Plains History Collection" at the University of Texas, according to J. Evetts Haley, research collector in the social sciences of the University.

Dr. W. P. Webb, associate professor of history at the university and noted authority on this region, has made the suggestion that such a collection be established, and his proposal is meeting with considerable favor, Mr. Haley said. Already the university has in its possession a large quantity of documents and other valuable materials relating to the Great Plains.

"Though the collection will bear upon many phases of Western life,—transportation, mining, dry farming, irrigation—those first materials deal with ranching operations in the west and illustrate something of the initial settlement of the region," Mr. Haley said.

"Among the most extensive operators in the southwest were Jot Gunter, W. B. Munson, and John Summerfield, land agents, surveyors and ranchmen. Their records, comprising two large collections acquired from the Gunter and Summerfield families, cover the period from 1870 to 1910 and contain 40,212 documents relating to the survey, sale and settlement of the public domain in Texas. The 5,471 documents in the C. U. Connellee collection approximate the same period and field.

"The private file of Frank S. Hastings, author and range authority, totaling approximately 35,000 pages of manuscripts, pertaining to his connection with Swenson's SMS ranch from 1902 to 1922. Those papers are illustrative of the problems of a large ranch today. The SMS still comprises more than 350,000 acres of land.

"The files of J. M. Daugherty, pioneer ranchman and trail driver, extend from 1870 to 1905 and contain approximately 2,000 pieces. They deal with trail and range life of Central Texas, Oklahoma, and Kansas, and with the large "Figure 2" ranch of the Trans-Pecos country."

The conviction is growing that he who laughs last doesn't merely laugh best, but is just plain dumb.

In Evening Dress, Simplicity's the Thing

PRACTICAL COTTONS, NET, CHIFFON, ORGANDY DRESSES OF SIMPLE DESIGN ARE PREFERABLE TO FORMAL GOWNS IN SUMMER

BY HARRIET

SUMMER evening dresses depend on exquisite lines, chic individual touches and simplicity to achieve their charm.

Sophisticated, backless, really formal gowns are out of place when the air is warm and summer moonlight shines down across open verandas. Their glamour is more effective in winter.

For summer, choose something delicately simple with an ethereal quality. An evening gown which will, in winter, earn you a reputation of being a handsome, well-groomed woman will, in summer, give the impression that you're over-dressed.

Cottons, of course, are excellent choices for summer dance frocks. Organdy is irresistibly cool. Chiffon and net are lovely fabrics for summer. They lend themselves well to pleats and ruffles.

You can have a white crepe dance dress with matching jacket and then wear the jacket with street things as well as with other evening frocks. The same practicability is true of linen or pique swagger jackets.

WHITE is a wise choice for summer. If it is a washable material, white is sure to withstand frequent tubbings better than colors. Also, it looks, and is, cooler.

Individual touches often make a frock. Your own initials embroidered or cemented on the front of a dress or the sash of a jacket is a nice, flattering little idea.

If you must wear real flowers with summer evening gowns, be sure and choose the kinds which last a long time. Heat wilts orchids and roses. And it's newer to pin flowers on your purse than to wear them on your dress.

Sleeves are almost necessary in summer. They, too, lend a graceful, ethereal touch. Most of them are tiny puffs at the shoulder, but flowing, cape effect, elbow length ones are a high fashion point.

Summer evening frocks deviate very little from dinner dresses. Both touch the floor, have diminutive sleeves and are "dressy" without being burdened with formality.

THE individual touch—always modish—is achieved through the monogrammed sash tie of this red velvet jacket. The letters are in gold and are cemented on the fabric to give the appearance of hand embroidery.

A monogram of gold letters cemented on the fabric of a red velvet jacket features the costume shown at left. The dress itself is of gardenia white crepe. A new dull faille crepe fashions the tailored evening costume shown at right. Exquisite pleating lends ethereal beauty to this frock.

The dress itself is of gardenia white crepe. It is cut circular and has tiny puffed sleeves.

Gardenia white is a new shade which is between eggshell and dead white. It gives an effect of coolness and is much more flattering to dark-skinned girls than is pure white. It's a lovely color to choose if you have obtained a suntan.

Duplex faille of rayon fashions the evening frock and jacket at the right.

It is untrimmed, relying on the exquisite pleating for its simple beauty. The pleats on the dress start at the fairly high neckline in back and go down to the floor. The back of the jacket is pleated to coincide with those of the dress. The sleeves are also pleated across the top.

It's the kind of a jacket that you can wear with all your other evening dresses and with street things too.

MAKES SUGGESTION

To the Editor of the Canyon News:

As you asked for suggestions for improvements, I want to suggest a "Home and School for the Feeble Minded." The Panhandle doesn't have a fair show at Austin. It being so far away, parents who happen to have a feeble minded child, don't want to send them away so far from home.

Besides they have had applications turned down years ago for lack of room.

Some of these unfortunate children have been denied the advantages of a Home and School, for lack of room, and because their parents loved them too well to send them off where they could seldom see them.

Mr. Editor, please give this matter serious thought. Talk it up and get others interested. Two or three good influential men, I believe, would find this easier done than getting the Historical Museum built. I believe most every one would want to help, even it if was ever so little. Besides it seems to me the State would help more than 30% as we are entitled to some of our tax money being used here instead of down state.

The museum building, and the parks in the canyons are great, but this would be greater. Imagine if some loved one of our own had happened to be feeble minded. What a sad thing, surely this can be done, if some one will make a start.

Respectfully,
A CANYON CITIZEN.

THE STATE OF TEXAS:

To the Sheriff or any Constable of Randall County—Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to summon Joseph Austin Bassett, and the unknown heirs of said Joseph Austin Bassett, their heirs and legal representatives, by making publication of this citation once each week for four consecutive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your county, if there be a newspaper published therein, but, if not, then in the nearest county where a newspaper is published, to appear at the next regular term of the district court of Randall County, Texas, to be holden at the courthouse thereof, in Canyon, Texas, on the first Monday in August, A. D. 1933, the same being the 7th day of August, A. D. 1933, then and there to answer a petition filed in said court on the 3rd day of July, A. D. 1933, in a suit numbered on the docket of said court, No. 1380, wherein Florence Donovan, a feme sole, Henry Alton Bassett and Lydia E. V. Bassett, a feme sole, are plaintiffs, and Joseph Austin Bassett and the unknown heirs of said Joseph Austin Bassett, their heirs and legal representatives, are defendants; the nature of plaintiffs' demand being as follows:

Plaintiffs allege, in count of trespass to try title, that on or about the 1st day of May, 1933, they were lawfully seized and possessed of an undivided five-sixths interest in and to section No. forty (40), block No. nine (9), certificate 1-20, B. S. & F. grantee, located in Randall County, Texas, and pray for judgment for title and possession of said interest in said land as against defendants.

In the alternative, plaintiffs allege that plaintiffs and defendants are the joint owners of said section No. forty (40), block No. nine (9), certificate 1-20 B .S. & F. grantee, Randall County, Texas, as heirs of Allen S. Bassett, deceased; the plaintiff, Florence Donovan, being entitled to an undivided one-half interest, and the plaintiffs, Henry Alton Bassett, and Lydia E. V. Bassett, and the defendant, Joseph Austin Bassett, (or his representative heirs, if he be dead) being each entitled to an undivided one-sixth interest in and to said tract of land; the plaintiff, Florence Donovan, further alleging a cloud cast on the title to her interest in said lands by reason of a certain deed of trust executed by her on the 3rd day of December, 1917, in favor of the defendant, Joseph Austin Bassett, due on or before five years after date, which said deed of trust and lien created thereby she alleges she is entitled to have cancelled, and her interest in said land awarded to her free and clear thereof.

Plaintiffs, on their alternative plea, pray for judgment partitioning said land among plaintiffs and defendants, according to their respective interests; and the plaintiff, Florence Donovan, further prays that the cloud cast on the title to her interest in said land be removed, and that her share be awarded to her free and clear of said deed of trust lien aforesaid; and plaintiffs further pray for all relief to which they may show themselves entitled, whether general or special, legal or equitable; and also for citation by publication, the place of residence of the defendant, Joseph Austin Bassett, if living, being unknown; and, if he be dead, the heirs, their heirs and legal representatives, of the said Joseph Austin Bassett being unknown.

Witness: Berl E. Mayfield, Clerk of the District Court of Randall County, Texas.

Given under my hand and seal of said court, in the town of Canyon, this the 3rd day of July, A. D. 1933.

Miss Mary M. Brown Will Give Program Tuesday at College

Those who have enjoyed many programs given by Miss Mary Morgan Brown are especially interested in the College Lyceum number which is scheduled for Tuesday evening at 7:30.

Miss Brown will include on her program "The Brink of Silence" by Esther Galbraith and "A Marriage Has Been Arranged" by Alfred Sutro; these are delightful one-act plays. A group of selected verse and James Lane Allen's "Two Gentlemen of Kentucky" will be other numbers on the vesper program which will be about one hour in length.

This is a third of a series of programs which are being given by members of the College faculty; they are open to townspepople for the nominal sum of twenty-five cents each. Students are highly pleased with the entertainment offered in this way, declaring that it is far better han much that has been offered in the past.

Aids President

Here is Bernard M. Baruch, whom President Roosevelt asked to serve as an unofficial advisor to government heads during the president's absence on vacation. Baruch, one-time head of the War Industries Board, plans to sail soon for France on a vacation, the time of his return to the capital depending upon develpments.

Wheat Deal

duction control associations which would handle the relief through direct contact with regional wheat offices. It is proposed to meet the local expense of administration in the counties by levies on farmers' benefits, estimated to amount to an average the country over of about 2 cents per bushel.

The plan in brief consists of the grower signing a three-year contract to reduce acreage as directed by the Administration and to farm the remaining wheat acres in a workmanlike manner, in return for which the farmer would be paid each fall 30 cents per bushel for the portion of the expected crop that is estimated will go into domestic human consumption. Payments would be made in two installments the first about September 15th and the other after seeding time. First payments would be made this fall, which means that in exchange for a reduced acreage for 1934 and 1935 the grower would receive three yearly payments, in the autums of 1933, 1934 and 1935.

Of vital interest to Texans is the crop insurance feature which provides that payment will be made if the farmer fulfills his part of the contract even though the crop is destroyed by hail, wind, drouth or insects.

On the other hand, a farmer must contract this year for three years and he may not withdraw. Failure to comply with the contract later this year or in the succeeding two years would result in the Government declaring the advance payments a lien against future crops.

As the plan stands now farmers who have grown wheat one or two years would have to reckon their acreages on a three year average which would virtually eliminate them. This provision is being protested by Texas and other states where new settlers have recently opened up farms.

"The plan for the relief of the wheat farmer is in a formative stage and may be modified later by direction of M. L. Wilson, United States wheat administrator," states Mr. Martin.

possible camp site. He spent Sunday and Monday in investigating the west side of the Palo Duro, making a thorough test of the water supply, shade possibilities, roads, etc. He found by test that the well which was drilled at the Finch place would produce 20,000 gallons per day, whereas the maximum demand of 600 men would not exceed 15,000 gallons. Cooperating with him in the inspection was a committee from Canyon and Amarillo, together with Col. Oscar Seward, chief engineer for the State Parks Board. After making this most thorough and minute investigation, Col. King Tuesday morning reported to General Winans at Fort Sam Houston that he approved the camps in every respect.

Col. King viewed the Palo Duro Sunday for the first time. He was greatly impressed with the possibilities of development, and pronounced it a "miniature Grand Canyon." This phrase was incorporated in the written report that he mailed Tuesday.

Randall county is called upon by Col. King to drill another well on the Finch place, string the pipe to the camp site and to put the road in first class condition. Judge S. B. Orton and Commissioner G. B. Heath selected the site for the new well yesterday, ordered the additional pipe, and will start the county's outfit to put the road in first class condition. A delegation from Randall and Armstrong counties will go to Austin at the meeting of the Highway Commission this month asking that the highway from Canyon to Claude be designated a state highway. The commissioners court will order the widening of the present highway probably at the next regular meeting.

T. E. Johnson, chairman of the Palo Duro Park committee, and J. O. Guleke of Amarillo, have been in constant communication with Clyde W. Warwick, secretary of the Park committee, during the fight to put over the Park project. Both have expressed their great satisfaction with the wonderful cooperation which has been given by Randall county people during this campaign. This community has met every demand made by the state and federal governments in making the park possible.

The only disappointment in connection with the project is the loss of one camp. This means that 200 men, and $18,000 for materials, will not be available for immediate use. One camp was ordered discontinued after the refusal two weeks ago of the state authorities to approve the Palo Duro project. However, Col. Sewald stated Tuesday that from information gathered from Col. King it was not unlikely that the Palo Duro would have several thousand men at work during the winter months. All of the camps now in control of Col. King are located in the mountains and must be moved by early fall. So well pleased was Col. King with the Palo Duro that he will no doubt order several additional camps moved here for winter work.

Col. King pointed out the fact that while the men are enlisted for only six months, the act passed by congress authorizing the work army will continue in effect for two years unless economic conditions greatly improve. With the vast amount of work to be done in the Palo Duro, it would not be surprising to see a number of work camps continue until all of the plans made to beautify the Palo Duro have been accomplished.

WASTING LIFE IN THE U. S. A.

Statistics just published reveal that 33,500 Americans lost their lives in motor accidents during 1931, while more than a million, or approximately one per cent of the population, sustained injuries in these accidents. This is an appalling record and the unfortunate part is that the figures for the past decade have shown a steady increase from year to year. Americans have several rather unenviable records as compared with other nations—they boast of the greatest amount of crime, of the highest fire loss and of the largest accident rate of any country in the world. Devotion of citizens to the principles of law and the maintenance of order and the electing of honest, capable officials will remedy the first, while carefulness will do away largely with the second and third. Too much rush and too little thought of the consequences are characteristic weaknesses of the average American and these accident figures prove it. It is hoped that when the figures for 1932 are published, they will show a decrease and that the campaign to promote safety will continue to bear fruit more fully in the future.—Record. Muskegon Heights, Michigan.

A tramp sign painter who jitneyed through Tonkawa, Okla., won the admiration of the editor of the News by just one little idea he had painted on the side of his car. It read: "If it doesn't pay to advertise your business, then advertise it for sale."
